

HR Trends – A Future for HR

Christian Völkl, HRpepper Management Consultants

May 2015

Agenda

1	Where do we come from?	2
2	What do we need to tackle?	6
3	What are our answers?	19

Where do we come from?

From protection to administration to strategic function

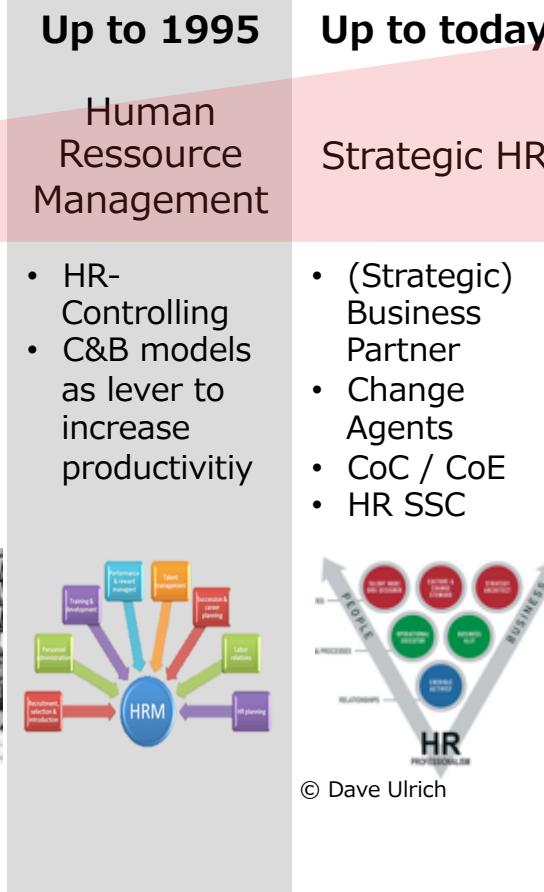

Up to 1913	Up to 1945	Up to 1975	Up to 1995	Up to today	Future
Social welfare	Payroll office	Personnel-management	Human Ressource Management	Strategic HR	??
<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Protection and safety (e.g. childrens' work)	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Professionalization	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• Work conditions• Around ca. 1970: specialized HR function	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• HR-Controlling• C&B models as lever to increase productivity	<ul style="list-style-type: none">• (Strategic) Business Partner• Change Agents• CoC / CoE• HR SSC	?

 © bpk

 © EDEKA

 © Dave Ulrich

“If HR does not force its way into the heart of strategic planning in organizations, it will default to a technical and transactional dead end.”

Helen Drinan

Former president and CEO, Society for Human Resources Management

Just cannot hear it any longer...

Agenda

1	Where do we come from?	2
2	What do we need to tackle?	6
3	What are our answers?	19

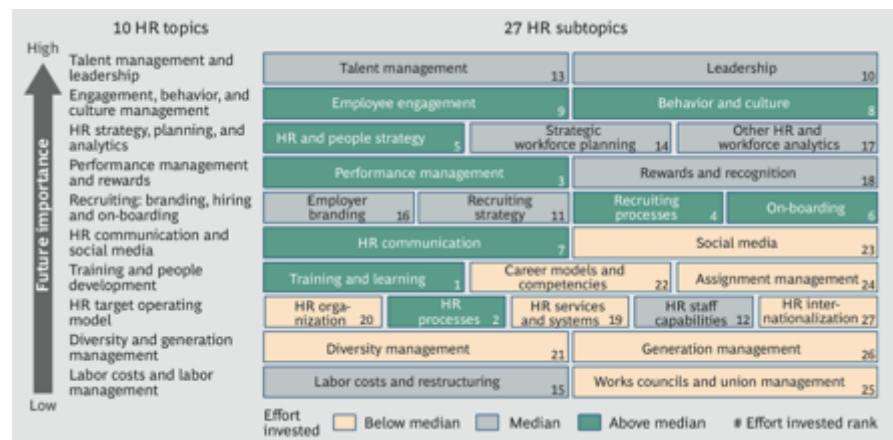

Do these trend observations provide true guidance for HR?

Results of current consultancy studies

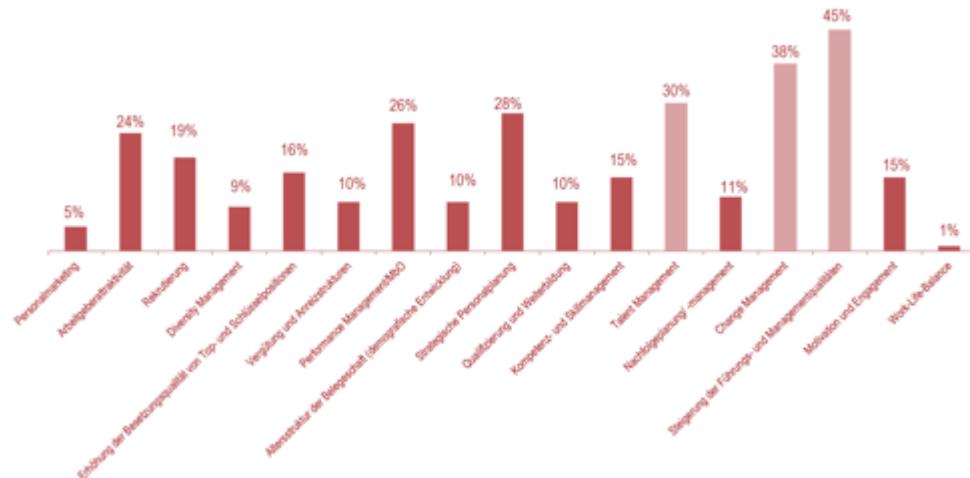

Ten Key Trends for 2015

1. Engagement, Retention, Culture, and Inclusion Have Become Front Burner Issues
2. The Redesign of Performance Management Will Likely Continue
3. Time to Address the Overwhelmed Employee: How Do We Redesign and Simplify the Workplace?
4. Skills Are Now Currency; Corporate Learning Takes on Increasing Importance
5. Invest, Refocus, and Redesign Talent Acquisition—Leveraging Network Recruiting, Brand Reach, and New Technologies
6. Talent Mobility, Career Management, and the Leadership Pipeline Become a Top Priority
7. Accelerate and Globalize the Leadership Pipeline
8. Take the Plunge and Invest in Talent Analytics and Workforce Planning—This Area Is Now an Imperative for Competitive Advantage
9. Revisit Your HR Technology Plan, Reduce Core Vendors, and Look for Innovative New Solutions That Drive High Levels of Value
10. Review and Redesign the Roles and Structure of Your HR Team and Invest in HR Professional Development

Source: 2015 Bersin by Deloitte

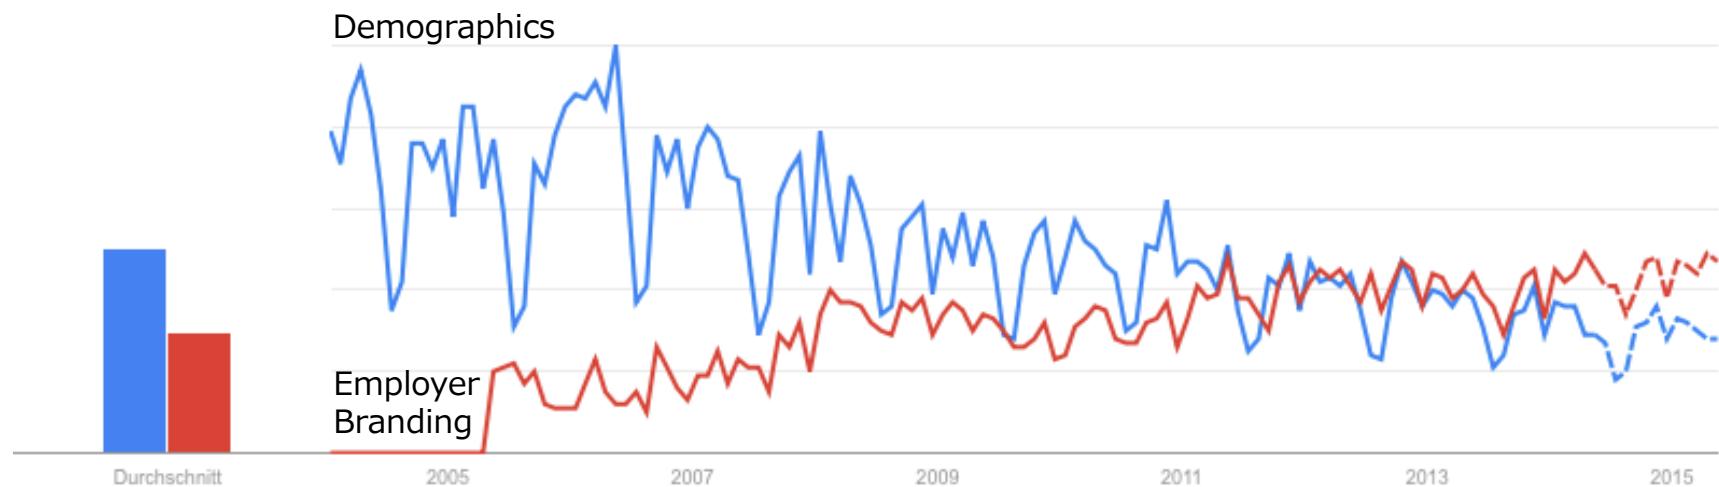

Source: 2014 BCG and WFPMA

Source: 2013 Kienbaum Management Consultants

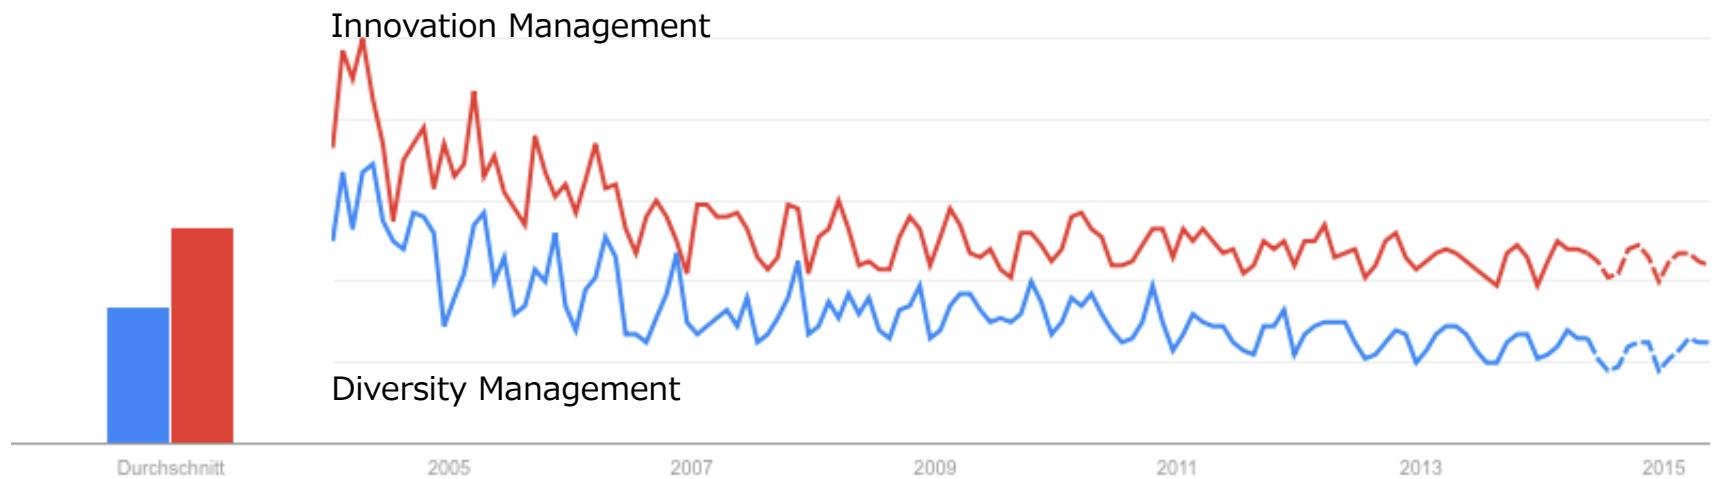

Not exactly what you would call a trend...

Google Search Requests for Demographics & Employer Branding

Not exactly what you would call a trend...

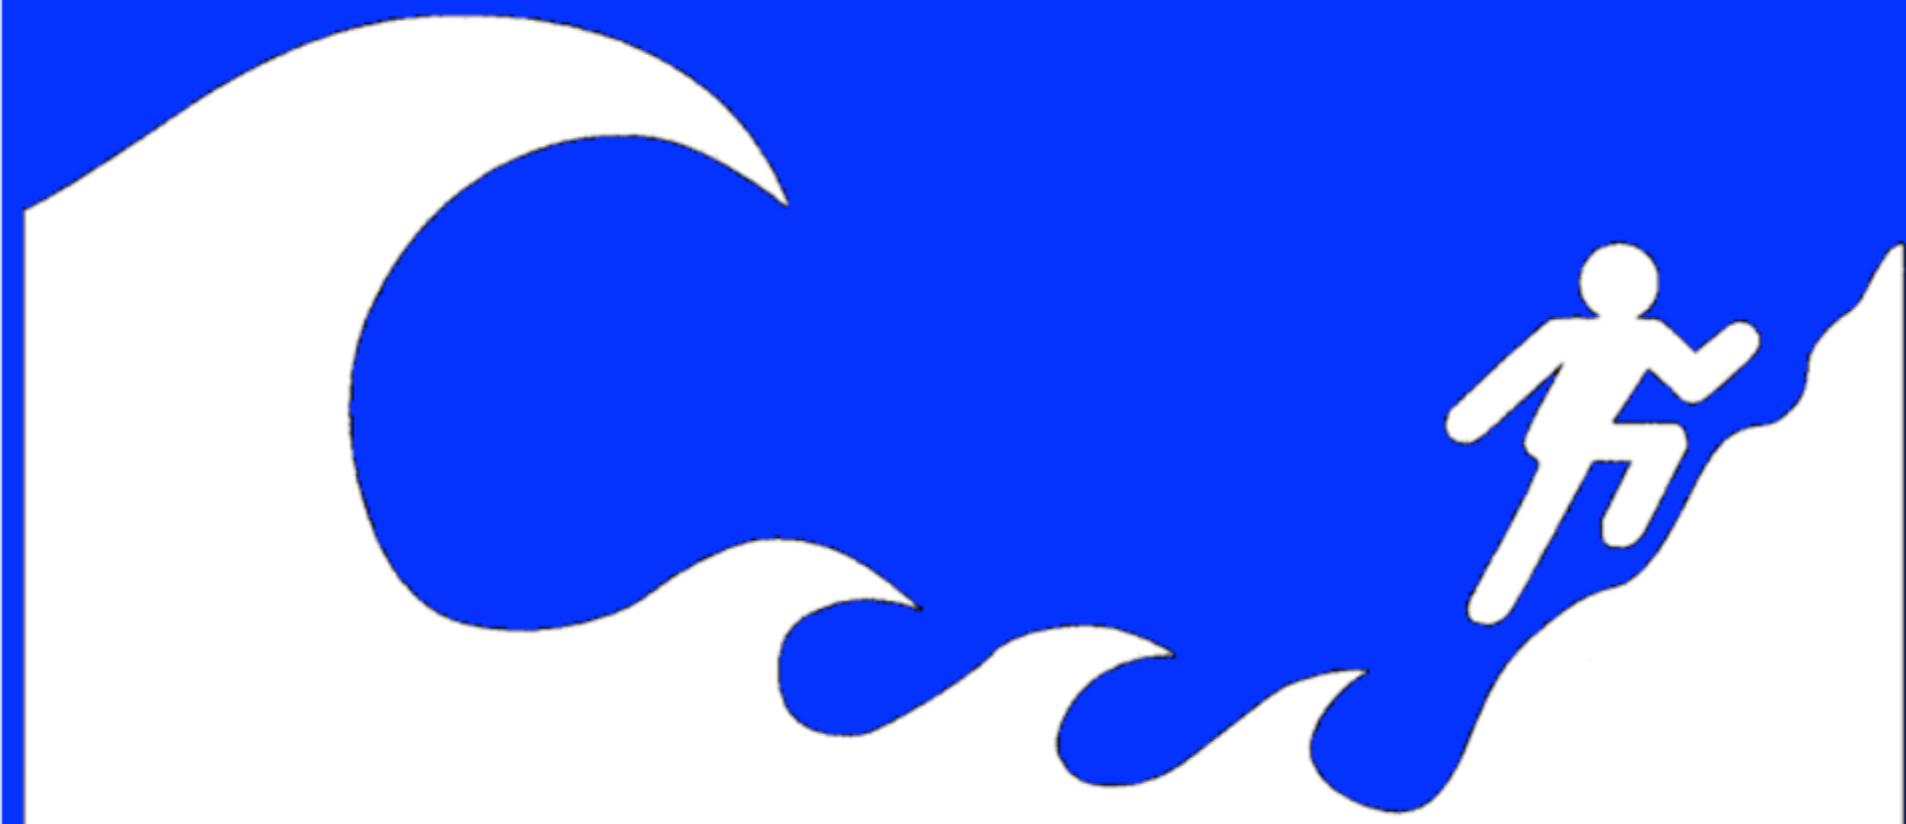

Search Requests for Diversity Management & Innovation Management

Certainly a trend: Business models at risk

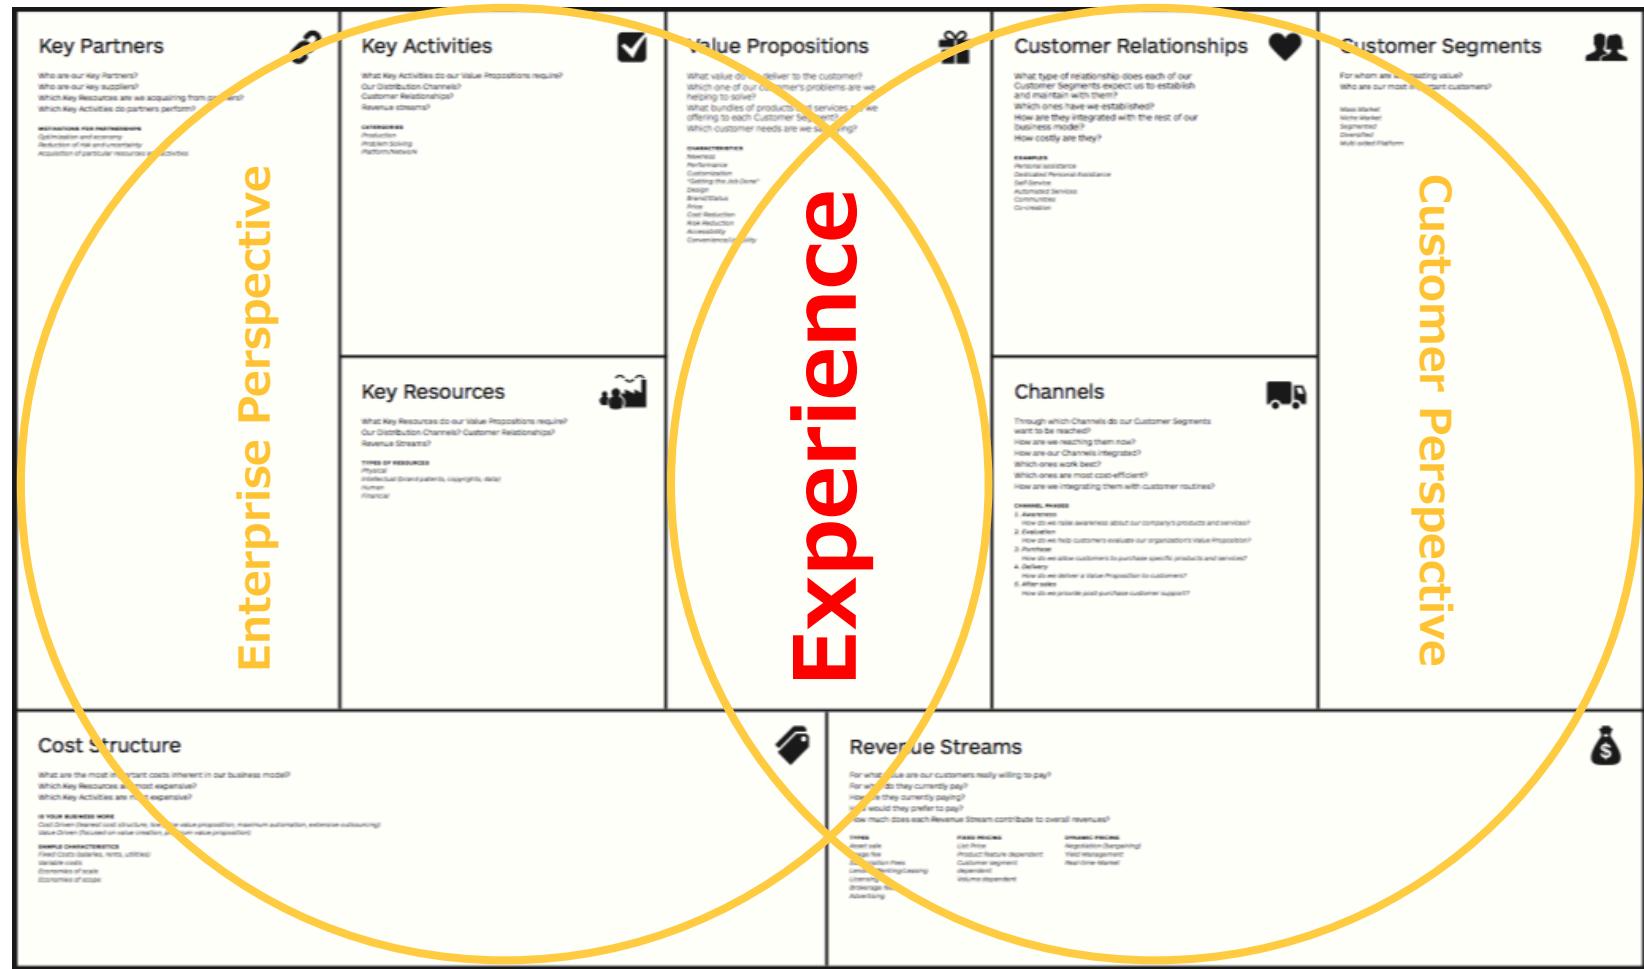

The only thing for sure is that hardly anything is certain...

TSUNAMI HAZARD ZONE

Not a trend but a fact: Customer experience at the heart of ever more business models

Successful business models satisfy customer needs with experience-based value propositions

The product...

...the experience....

(Foto: <http://news.starbucks.com>)

...the desired outcome...

(Foto: http://sallison.blogspot.de/2010_09_01_archive.html)

(Foto: <http://www.flickr.com/photos/eriq/tags/starbucks/>)

A photograph of a spilled coffee cup lying on its side on a dark, textured asphalt surface. The cup is yellow with brown stains and has two small holes near the top. The white lid lies next to it, also stained with coffee. A small piece of debris is visible near the top left corner.

...the product without the experience!

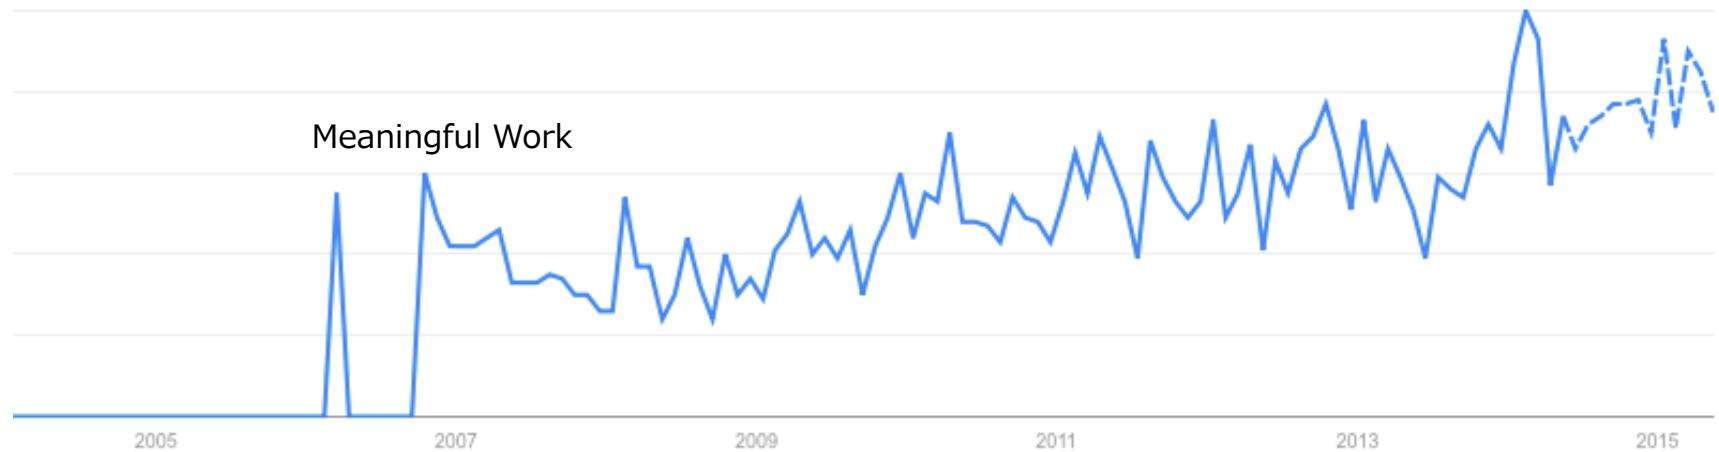

(Foto: <http://i.bnet.com/blogs/oracle-sues-google-over-java.jpg>)

Quiz question

What kind of work-related experiences enable employees to provide exceptional customer experiences?

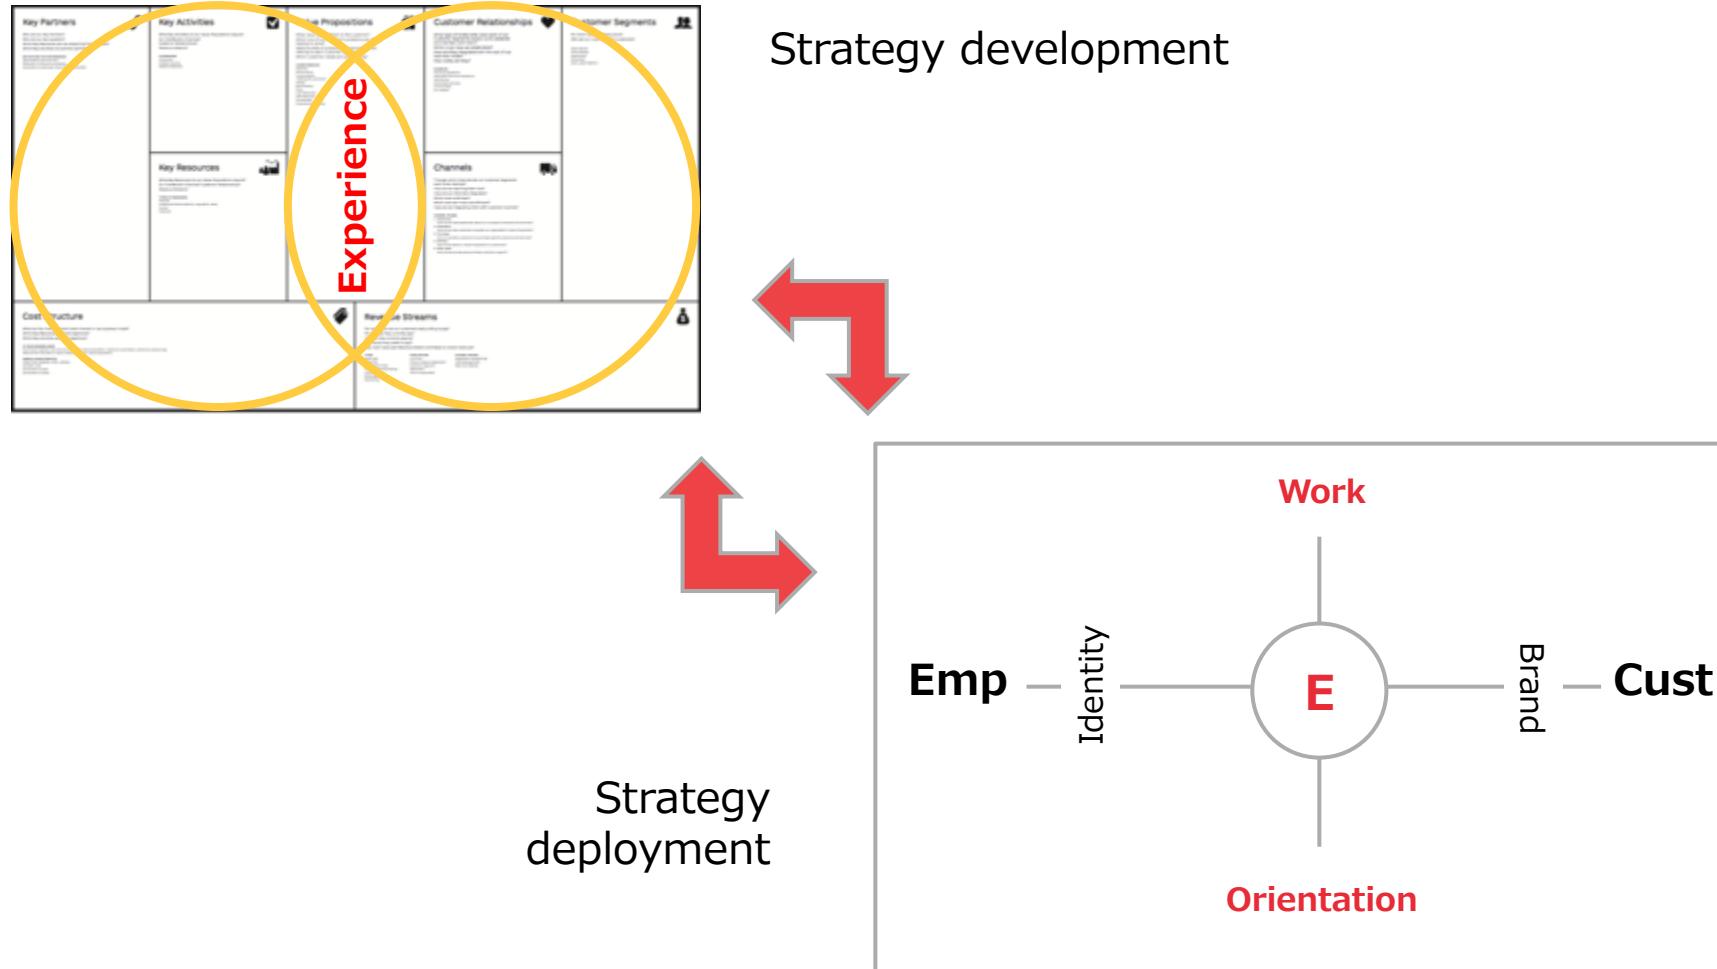

What does Google say?

Meaning is the new money!

Customer and employee experience as focal points for institutionalizing business models

Linking strategy development with strategy deployment—it's the experience, stupid!

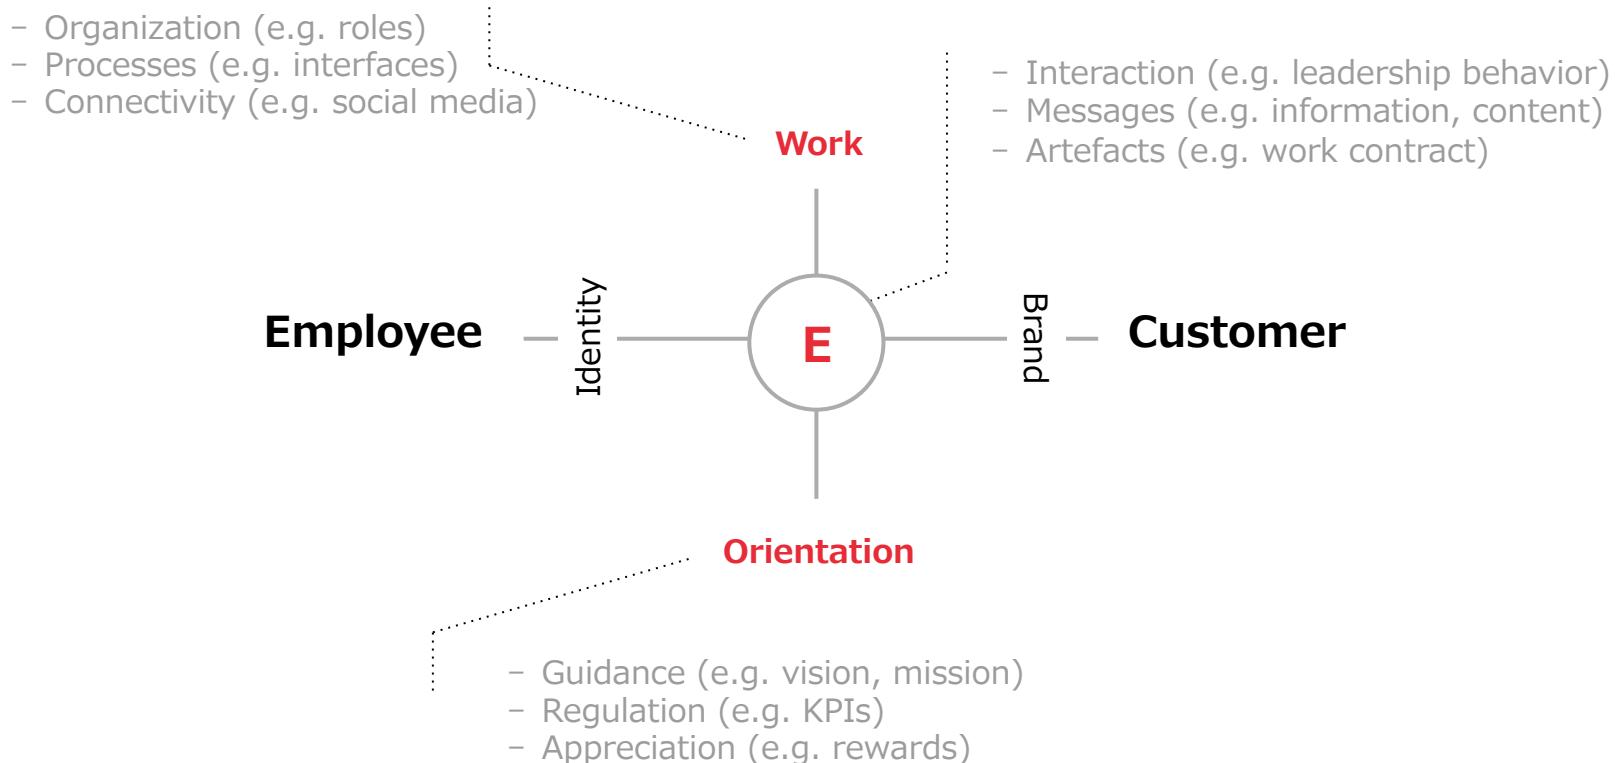

Agenda

1	Where do we come from?	2
2	What do we need to tackle?	6
3	What are our answers?	19

Employee Experience Design

For providing meaningful employee experiences, HR can design the experience itself, the work system as well as the mechanisms for orientation

Employee Experience Design (EED)

Creating value from untapped needs: Designing the employee experience as a mandate for a strategic Human Resources function

„EED summarizes the practice of intentionally designing HR products, services, events, and organizational environments with a focus on the quality of the employee experience and organizationally relevant experiences.“

(Source: Wikipedia)

The screenshot shows the HRpepper website with a navigation bar for DE | EN, Menschen, Kompetenzen, HRpepper, Aktuell, Publikationen, Blog, and Kontakt. The main heading is "Employee Experience Design". Below it, a text block discusses the challenges of HR in the future, mentioning digitalization, new work, and demography. It quotes Christian Völkl about the need for a new concept like "Employee Experience Design". A section titled "Drei Fragen an den EED-Vordenker Christian Völkl" features three photographs of Christian Völkl in a suit sitting on a red sofa, engaged in conversation.

Nach Bedarf designt

PLÄDOYER. Warum sich moderne Personalarbeit nicht an Strukturen der Abteilung, sondern an Mitarbeiterbedürfnissen ausrichtet - im Sinn der „Employee Experience“.

Von Christian Völkl und Christian Menzel

Rechte mit 65, „HR Cloud“, „Be There for Hearts and Minds“, Ge sundheitsmanagement, Viehflut, Innovationsdruck. Was sich an hält wie eine überdimensionierte Postkörbelung, im Assessment Center für Nachwuchskräfte, ist eigentlich vielmehr ganz banaler Alltag von Personalarbeitern. Einiges ist kein Thema, auf die in der Personalarbeit Antworten zu finden sind, ist herzlichlich und an Komplexität zunehmend – und das unter dem stetigen Druck der Kostensteigerung und am besten bereit gestellt.

Wenn man sich anschaut, wie HR mit diesen Anforderungen umgeht, stellt sich Erklärung ein: Gemessen an der Bedeutung von Personalressourcen, ist ihr Einfluss und die Kundenfreundlichkeit nur begrenzt, wie die „HR-Image Studie 2013“ belegt. Und das obgleich man sich seit mehr als 15 Jahren in Anlehnung an Dave Ulrich mit dem Konzept des „Business Partner Modell“ des wachsenden Berufsbildungsanfangs an HR zu stellen versucht. Die Selbstvergieberung der Personalaufgaben in drei Stufen sollte die erheblichen Effizienzsteigerungen, kleinere Positionierung und damit Wertschätzung für das Personalmanagements bringen. Allmählich machen sich jedoch Zweifel breit und die ersten Unternehmen stiessen bereits zurück zu einer stärker integrierten Personalaufgaben.

Wir glauben, dass es mehr als eine organisatorische Antwort auf die Herausforderungen der Zukunft geben muss. Wir finden, dass die Zeit gekommen ist, gemeinsam getragene Aufgabe an der Schnittstelle zwischen den drei Hauptakteuren Mitarbeiter, Führungskraft sowie Personalexperte stattfindet.

Wie Designer denken: Auch HR-Produkte müssen den Kundenerwartungen entsprechen.

„Customer Experience“ ist das Vorbild. Ein Vergleich mit dem Konzept der „Customer Experience“ veranschaulicht, worum es bei EED geht. „Customer Experience Design“ beschreibt die Gestaltung von Kundenerlebnissen und findet überall dort Anwendung, wo es die bloße Anbieten eines Produkts für die Wertbewerbsfähigkeit eines Unternehmens nicht mehr ausreicht. Produkte und Dienstleistungen lassen sich heutzutage leicht kopieren; umfassende Erfahrung-

Source: Personalmagazin, Ausgabe 06/2014, www.personalmagazin.de

We're looking forward to a stimulating discourse with you.

HRpepper GmbH & Co. KGaA

Tempelhofer Ufer 11, 10963 Berlin

T +49 30 2593575 0

F +49 30 2593575 5